Cabinet Post Offer Turned Down by Negro

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy said today he had offered the postmaster generalship to Rep. William Dawson, Chicago Negro congressman, but that Dawson declined it.

Kennedy made the announcement to newsmen from the front porch of his Georgetown home. He said he was doing so because of "much speculation that Dawson was going to be named to the Cabinet."

Kennedy said Dawson told him he felt it would be wiser to remain in the House in view of his 18 years of experience there and his chairmanship of the Government Operations Committee.

Dawson, 74, said he felt he could be of more value to the new administration, to his country and to the Democratic party by remaining in the House, Kennedy explained.

Turning down the post, Dawson rejected the opportunity to become the first Negro in U.S. history to serve as a Cabinet officer.

Kennedy said he has no one else in mind at the moment for the Office Department chief.

Kennedy further told reporters he hoped to have another announcement at 3:30 p.m. (EST) and a second about 5:15 p.m. (EST). He said at least one would be with reference to a Cabinet choice and "maybe two."

But his reference to an announcement about 3:30 was a change from an earlier statement. He previously had put the time for a Cabinet announcement tentatively at 5 p.m.

State to Fight for University Status

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Doug Bradley of Jonesboro said the fight to obtain university status for Arkansas State College will be continued.

He said nothing had been specifically planned yet for the 1961 legislative session.

Bradley visited Little Rock with a Jonesboro group which planned to call on Gov. Orval E. Faubus to discuss means of raising $6,000 to finance the Arkansas State College band's trip to Washington for the Inaugural Parade.

"We don't expect to get the money in the governor's office," Bradley said, "but we hope he will give us some suggestions about people we can see for it."

The group included Dr. Carl Reng, Arkansas State president; Herbert Parker, Joe Martin and Fred Carter, Jonesboro businessmen.

Appeals Court Against Editor in Tax Case

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled against Hope, Ark., newspaper publisher Alex H. Washburn in an income tax refund case.

Washburn said today at Hope that he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Washburn said he spent $6,024.96 in circulating petitions to refer to popular vote a 1955 Arkansas law exempting livestock and poultry feed from a 2 per cent state sales tax.

He sought to deduct the expenditures as a business expense from his federal income tax but the Internal Revenue Service disallowed the claim.

The U.S. Tax Court turned down the publisher's application for a refund, and he appealed to the circuit court here.

Since the case began, legislation has been proposed in Congress which would allow deduction of expenses such as those in question.

Washburn filed the petitions to refer the 1955 act to a popular vote but the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled the matter off the ballot on a technical point.

Situation in Laos Still Not Clear

VIETNAMESE (AP) — Anti-Communist forces loyal to Gen. Phoumi Nosavan held the center of this Laotian capital Thursday morning 18 hours after they recaptured it for the second time since the assault on Vientiane began at midday Tuesday.

The mixed forces of paratroopers commanded by Capt. Kong Le and pro-Communist Pathet Lao appeared to be falling back toward the airport at the western edge of the city.

But the attackers were moving cautiously. The area between military headquarters and the airport appeared to be a no man's land.

Phoumi's forces shelled the airport area during the night, but fighting died down until 7:30 a.m. when mortar and scattered small arms fire broke out again in the center of the city. Intermittent shelling continued at 10 a.m.

U. S. Ambassador Winthrop G. Brown and more than 30 men and women of his staff remained at their post in the embassy compound Tuesday and Wednesday.

They took refuge on the ground floor, and no one was injured when two shells and several bullets struck offices on the second floor.

Hope Star's Christmas Dinner for All Newsboys to be Tuesday, Dec. 20

Hope Star will hold its annual Christmas banquet for newspaper delivery boys of all papers selling in the Hope area at 7 o'clock next Tuesday night, December 20, in the banquet room of Diamond Cafeteria.

Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger will be the speaker.

Distributors of out-of-town papers delivered in this area are asked to report the number of their boys who expect to attend.

The report should specify the number of white boys and the number of Negro boys so the Star can advise the people who are preparing the food. The banquet for the Negro boys will be arranged by George (Boots) Smith, Jr., The Star's pressman, with members of the Negro community — and these boys should meet him at The Star office shortly before 7 p. m. Tuesday, December 20.

The invitation is extended to all carrier boys, regardless of the newspaper delivered, in Hope, Fulton, Washington, Emmet, and Prescott.

Moon Test Leaves Pad But Fizzles

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A giant U.S. moon rocket went out of control and exploded in flight today shortly after it was launched.

The fiery explosion high in the sky ruined an effort to launch the first satellite into an orbit around the moon. Destroyed in the blow-up was a 388-pound spacecraft designed to make the most extensive study ever attempted of the moon's environment.

"This was the sixth straight time U.S. space scientists failed in an attempt to orbit the moon. It will be several months before they have another chance."

The lowering 99-foot Atlas-Able carrier rocket rose smoothly from its pad at 7:10 a.m. EST today in what appeared to be a smooth lift-off.

The rocket blazed across the dark Florida sky and appeared to be flying a true course. Suddenly about 60 seconds after launch it began to wobble uncontrollably and suddenly erupted in an explosion that left a huge orange and red ball of boiling fire hanging in the sky for several seconds.

Several seconds later the roar of the explosion rolled back to the cape.

Minutes after the explosion the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced: "A 1 1/2 e-stage Atlas-Able space probe booster exploded at 4:12 a.m. EST after an approximate one-minute flight. An investigation is under way to determine the cause of the malfunction."

$509,500 Damage Suit at Convey

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — A $509,500 damage suit has been filed in Faulkner Circuit Court by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Clifton of Kansas City against an El Dorado father and son as a result of a Nov. 25, 1959, traffic accident near here.

The suit, filed Wednesday against Fred A. Roberts, about 20, and his father, Thomas F. Roberts, is believed to be the largest damage action ever filed here.

A car driven by the younger Roberts was involved in a collision with a car occupied by the Cliftons. The elder Roberts was named in the suit as the owner of the car.

The suit said Clifton is still hospitalized as a result of the accident—in which he suffered fractures of the legs, arm and jaw—and will be unable of gainful employment for the rest of his life.

Predicts Okay to Education Bill

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright said Wednesday that he thinks the new Democratic administration will support a federal aid to education bill.

Fulbright, speaking at a civic club here said passage of such a bill is one of the greatest long range needs facing the United States.

"The Russians have embarrassed us mostly through their enormous efforts in education," Fulbright said.

He said that teachers in the United States must be restored to a "position of respect and dignity in the community."

Fulbright also discussed foreign affairs from an Arkansas viewpoint.

"It is important that we maintain good relations with other countries," he said.

"Exporting Arkansas cotton, soybeans and rice depends entirely on treaties with these foreign nations."

Haile Selassie Ousted by Son in Ethiopia

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP) — Ethiopia's revolutionary government, installed by palace coup, closed all airports today in an apparent effort to prevent the return of Emperor Haile Selassie.

The new government headed by the emperor's son, progressive-minded Crown Prince Asf Wassan, 44, staged a bloodless revolution in Addis Ababa Wednesday while the almost legendary ruler was on a state visit to Brazil.

Outwardly unperurbed, the bearded emperor, 68, conquering Lion of Judah, cut short his tour and flew for home. But there were serious doubts that he would be permitted to return.

The new government, claiming the support of the imperial guard, army and police, banned all flights of aircraft into or out of the country—an action that could block the emperor from landing.

Each engine was posted on rooftops in the capital where a dusk-to-dawn curfew prevailed. Units of the army guarded the American, British and Soviet embassies.

Calm prevailed in the capital, but normal communications with Addis Ababa were disrupted. Radio broadcasts and stray bits of information gave little idea of how the coup was being received by the rest of the 18 million Ethiopians.

One announcement said Ras Ary, former ambassador to India, had been made premier.

The proclamation of a new government made no mention of the emperor, so technically he was still the "king of kings" of Ethiopia.

But Crown Prince Asf Wassan declared his aim was to end "3,000 years of injustice." This appeared to be a direct attack on the dynasty itself, which traces its origins to a union of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

The coup came as a stunning surprise.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at Shover Springs Baptist Church by the Rev. G. L. Silvey and the Rev. Mr. G. L. Silvey of Shreveport. Burial will be in Shover Springs Cemetery by Oakcrest Funeral service.

Nike to Take Over Safety of Big Cities

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nike-Hercules batteries armed with powerful nuclear missiles will take over protection this summer of 18 American metropolitan and airbase areas, the Army says.

The Hercules replaces the Nike-Ajax now used to guard vital target areas against possible enemy aerial attack.

With three times the range and more than twice the altitude capability of the Ajax, the Hercules is deadly against bombers and air-launched missiles.

It cannot stop an intercontinental ballistic missile. For that reason, Lt. Gen. Robert J. Wood, commanding general of the Army Air Defense Command, urges stepped-up development of an even more advanced anti-missile weapon—the Nike-Zeus.

He spoke at the dedication at nearby Ft. MacArthur of a master control center—the "missile master" electronic system for semi-automatic control of the ground-to-air Nike-Ajax and Hercules launchers.

The 18 areas where Hercules missiles are to be installed this summer are Boston-Providence; Chicago; Cleveland; Detroit; Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash.; Seattle; Hartford-Bridgeport; Long Beach, Calif.; Los Angeles; Milwaukee; New York; Niagara-Buffalo; Norfolk; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; San Francisco; Travis AFB, Calif.; and Washington-Baltimore.

The radio message from the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane said much of the downtown section of the city was ablaze as the two factions slugged away in an artillery duel.

The message said the anti-Communist forces, wearing white uniforms, were in the center of the city near the embassy and appeared to have taken over the entire southern section.

Anti-Communist headquarters in southern Laos broadcast claims that its forces had driven to the edge of the airport on the western outskirts of Vientiane.

At the height of the battle, leftist Capt. Kong Le was deserted by his superior, Gen. Souphomm Phommavong, who fled to Thailand. A former commander of the royal Laotian army, he declared he did not want to become involved in the civil war.

In Washington, State Department officials said Soviet and other Communist charges of U.S. intervention were a coverup for a Soviet airlift of arms to Kong Le's leftists in Vientiane.

Vientiane Airport still is in Kong Le's hands. Dispatches from Vientiane said Kong Le's forces, backed by pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas, appeared to be falling back toward the airport at the western edge of the city. The airport is guarded by artillery and anti-aircraft guns flown in by the Soviet Union.

Most major building in downtown Vientiane have been damaged in the two days of battle—including the premier's palace and other government buildings. French officials in Bangkok reported the big French Mahosot Hospital in the Laotian capital was hit by shellfire. The staff left. Hundreds of wounded patients were unattended.

Anti Reds Are Driving Out the Leftists

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Embassy and a French hospital have been hit by shellfire in the flaming battle for Vientiane, sending hundreds of French women and children and some Americans fleeing to Thailand.

As anti-Communist forces in Laos were reported driving leftist troops toward the vital airport outside Vientiane, the heart of the capital was in flames, said reports from Bangkok, Thailand's capital.

An artillery shell struck the U.S. Embassy today and the front of the building broke into flame. The embassy radioteletype Bangkok said the staff was evacuated along with that of the neighboring U.S. Information Agency building. Four Americans were slightly injured.

The rain of shells spreading ruin through the heart of the capital struck the big French Mahosot Hospital Wednesday afternoon, said the French Embassy in Bangkok. The staff fled, leaving hundreds of wounded and dying from the battle under the care of only two French army doctors.

One of the doctors in a dramatic radio message pleaded for international action to end the "useless bloodletting."

The French community in the former French colony was all but deserted as women and children crossed the nearby Mekong River into Thailand.

The radio message from the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane said much of the downtown section of the city was ablaze as the two factions slugged away in an artillery duel.

surprise to those who know Ethiopia well. The emperor left his capital at the end of November for an extended trip through West Africa and Latin America. Ethiopia appeared untroubled by the wave of nationalism and unrest sweeping Africa, and all looked tranquil at the time.

His crack imperial bodyguard— from which came the Ethiopian units that fought in the Korean War—were considered intensely loyal.

Some of the guard are believed to have been sent among the 2,600 Ethiopians now serving under the U. N. command in the Congo, however, and their absence may have given dissidents an opportunity to strike for power.

The emperor also is reported to have had some differences with Asfa Wassan, and there have been rumors that he might bypass the crown prince in favor of some other successor. There are two royal sons besides Asfa Wassan.

No one supposed, however, that Asfa Wassan—plump, short and fun-loving and twice-married— would dare engineer a plot against his father.

He picked up modern progressive ideas while a university student in England and on a visit to the United States last year.

Royal Pair Is Married in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—

King Baudouin of the Belgians to-

There were twin ceremonies—

MEMPHIS (AP)—The Justice

Department is attempting to crack down on a second west

Tennessee County where promi-

joined in an economic struggle

The latest action was a request

Wednesday for a court order to

Federal Judge Marion Boyd set

Dec. 27 to hear a Justice Depart-

the defendants.

It was the second county in

Her Intended Loves Another Girl

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

I am a widow in love with a man two years younger than I. He has never been married before. At the time we met he was writing a girl 18 years younger than he, who lives in another country. They had talked of getting married.

He didn't hear from this girl for three months. I fell in love with him and he with me. Now out of the blue she writes him she is coming here next month. He doesn't know what to do, not having seen her in over a year. I think he loves us both.

He would like to keep on going with me till she gets here. What shall I do? —Heart sick

Dear Heart sick: Your beau will have to choose between you and the other girl. He alone can make the decision. The best way to help him know his own mind is to stop seeing him — now! If it's you he wants, he'll come pounding at your door.

Dear Helen:

I am 19 years old and like a married man who is almost three times my age. I know this sounds silly and that nothing could come of it. I am trying very hard to forget but cannot because I work in the same office with him. What do you suggest? —Confused

Dear Confused: A situation such as this can wreck your life unless you do something about it—and quickly.

This is one of the few problems which I advocate running away from. Give up your job, move to another town, go to another college. — make the break complete.

Change of environment means change of thought, and that in time means the healing of a broken heart. It won't be easy but believe me, it's the only solution.

Dear Helen:

My friend attends the same church as I. When she comes, we sit together. The usual offering for children is to give 10 cents and adults 25 cents or more. My friend is adult yet she only puts a dime in the plate. The usher seems startled. I am embarrassed. My friend is sensitive. How can I tell her? —?

Dear Helen:

Don't tell her. The Lord isn't ringing up the cash register.

Dear Helen:

Is it proper for a receptionist to visit her male employer who is in the hospital, or confined to bed? —Anxious

Dear Anxious: That depends upon how ill your employer is and how well you know him. I and how you know him, I he is married, you might call his wife and ask her if he is having visitors. If not, ask his nurse.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and address her care at this newspaper. Helpful hints are available. Write for "Travel With You Work."

Teams Follow Auction With Possible Trades

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—With a major task accomplished—the selection of players in an unprecedented draft—the new Washington and Los Angeles American League teams today investigated baseball's trading market.

Both general managers, Fred Goetz, at a cost of $25,000 each.

Haney of Los Angeles and Eddie Doherty of Washington, said they are eagerly seeking trades to strengthen the squads which, for the most part, were chosen at Wednesday's historic session in American League headquarters.

Doherty said he plans to acquire another starting pitcher and an infielder.

Haney huddled with Art Rolonzon, a St. Louis Cardinals official, after the meeting.

The Angels and new Senators each plucked 28 players off the rosters of the other eight American League teams Wednesday, paying $75,000 for each player.

Los Angeles also picked up two minor leaguers and Washington

Rugged Scrap in Atlantic Coast League

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is going to be a rugged scrap for the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball title again this season.

Wake Forest's demon Deacons, who tied for the conference crown with North Carolina last spring, edged North Carolina State Wednesday night, 68-67. Previously unbeaten N. C. State, tenth ranked nationally, was favored to win after copping four in a row.

Billy Packer converted 6-for-6 free throws in the last 2½ minutes at Raleigh, N.C. to keep the Deacons (3-2) in front of a late rallying N. C. State team. He had 8-for-8 from the free throw line, and led the scoring with 22 points, 18 in the last half. Bob DiScenzo got 17 for the Wolfpack.

Duke, ranked No. 8 nationally and winner of last season's ACC championship tournament, invades Clemson tonight. Wake Forest plays at Virginia Friday night, and then moves on to College Park, Md., for an explosive conference clash with Maryland Saturday.

Maryland maintained its unbeaten record by defeating Georgetown, 78-67. Sophomore Bill Stasulatis connected on 14 of 15 free throws and led the scoring with 22 points. Paul Tagliabue had 16 for Georgetown, which made only 15 of 29 foul shots compared to Maryland's 32-44 from the gift line.

Bradley, the nation's No. 2 team, pulverized touring Nevada 95-59, and ran its season record to 5-0. The Braves, winning their 38th straight home game, held a 54-23 halftime lead, and used 15 players, led by Chet Walker's 25 points.

Holy Cross, Dayton, Pennsylvania, DePaul, Colorado, Providence and Chicago Loyola continued on the unbeaten trail.

Rebound control helped give

So baseball's biggest player transaction involved 61 players and $4,325,000.

Haney won the loss of a coin for first choice in three of four categories—pitchers, catchers and infielders. His picks were pitcher Eli Garba of New York, catcher Ed Sadowski of Boston, and third baseman Eddie Yost of Detroit.

Doherty won the toss for the pick of the outfielders in the pool of 120 players provided by the other eight teams. He chose Willie Tasby of Boston.

Some of the other established players selected by the Angels are pitchers Duke Maas, New York; Truman Clevenger, Minneapolis-St. Paul; and Ned Garver, Kansas City; catcher Bob (Red) Wilson, Cleveland; infielders Ted Kluszewski, Chicago; Ken Aspromonte, Cleveland; and Ken Hamlin, Kansas City; and outfielder Bob Cerv, New York; and Fayo Throneberry, Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Among the new Senators are pitchers Bobby Shantz, New York; Dave Sisler and Pete Burnside, Detroit; Dick Donovan, Chicago; Tom Sturdivant, Boston; catcher Pete Daley and Dutch Dotterer, Kansas City; infielders Coot Veal, Detroit; Dale Long, New York; and Billy Klaus, Baltimore; and outfielders Gene Woodling, Baltimore; and Marty Keough, Cleveland.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The signing of a grant-in-aid scholarship by Little Rock High School halfback Chester Storitz was announced by Tulane football coach Andy Plimley Tuesday.

Storitz, a 170-pounder, is rated a top collegiate prospect and has been an all-Big Nine Conference halfback the past two years. He first starred for Hall as a sophomore in 1958-59.

Cottrell Has a Plan to Redistrict

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. J.H. Cottrell of Pulaski County today came up with a congressional redistricting plan he said was designed so that all four congressional districts would have about the same number of voters.

Under the present plan, Rep. Oren Harris and Dale Alford would be in a new Third District and Rep. E.C. Gathings and W.P. Norrell in a new Fourth District. Rep. Oren Mills would be in the First District and Rep. James W. Leasure in the Second.

The Cottrell plan is the latest of several which have been announced since it became apparent that Arkansas' 10-year population loss would cause the state to lose two of its present six national House members.

A feature of the Cottrell plan is that every district would touch the Arkansas River.

A new First District, lying mainly east and west, would extend as far as the Carroll and Johnson County lines at its most westerly point. The Second District would include a tier of western counties between the state's north and south borders; the Third District would be composed of a narrow column of generally well-populated counties from the Pulaski County area south to the state line; the Fourth District would be composed of east and southeast Arkansas, including Crittenden and Cross Counties and extending to the state's south border.

Cottrell said he would introduce his proposal early in the 1961 legislative session.

Tuesday, freshman Rep. Jim Bandon of Pulaski submitted a plan in which Gathings and Norrell and Mills and Alford would be in the same districts.

Kennedy Has Called Flock of Managers

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

He has been patiently surrounding himself with a bunch of managers.

Each of his five Cabinet appointments appears to be an extremely well-controlled, unassuming, non-famboyant individual who so far, at least, has carefully avoided the kind of pronouncements which make headlines.

The Eisenhower administration wasn't very old before Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and

A Low-Calorie Treat For Your Xmas Table

Need a sweet idea for a yuletide treat? Here's a tempting tidbit that youngsters—and oldsters, too—might dream about the night before Christmas.

It's an apricot-and-nut delight that fills a yen for a "sweet"—without filling out the waistline.

The secret: sweetness without added calories.

This is accomplished with a bit of saccharin, 400 times sweeter than sugar but calorie-free!

Apricot Nut Dreams

Dissolve three saccharin tablets (one-quarter grain each) in one teaspoon of lemon juice.

Mix one cup of finely ground dried apricots and one-third cup finely ground pecans, packed tightly into cup (about two ounces).

Add lemon juice mixture and mix thoroughly with your hand. Shape into one-half inch balls.

Crush to a fine powder, using back of spoon, three saccharin tablets (one-quarter grain each).

Mix in one teaspoon of cinnamon and one tablespoon of non-fat dry milk.

Roll balls in cinnamon mixture. Chill in refrigerator. Makes about 18. Calories in one piece: 45.

Ike Tells How GOP Lost the Negro Vote

NEW YORK (AP)—The Times says President Eisenhower expressed the view Tuesday that "a couple of phone calls" had put the Negro vote in the Democratic column in the presidential election.

"This came about, he indicated, despite his eight-year effort to protect Negro voting rights and to promote racial integration in public schools," the Times said in a Washington dispatch.

It said he made the remark without elaboration while conferring with a group of industrial leaders.

The visitors took the remark as a reference to telephone calls made by Sen. John F. Kennedy, then the Democratic presidential nominee and now President-elect, and by Kennedy's brother, Robert.

Sen. Kennedy telephoned the wife of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Georgia to express sympathy that the Negro leader had been sent to jail for four months in the aftermath of a sit-in demonstration about two weeks before the election and Judge Oscar Mitchell of Dekalb County, Ga., revoked the suspension of an earlier traffic violation sentence.

The senator's brother telephoned the judge and asked if there were any constitutional bar to the posting of bail. The demonstration charge was dropped and Dr. King was released on $12,000 bond pending an appeal.

The President's apparent reference to the incident came while he was making the point to the industrialists that glowing endorsements of economic freedom under the free enterprise system were not fully effective unless the message was received and retained by all levels of the body politic.

Envoy Guilty of Peddling Dope

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Guatemalan diplomat pleaded guilty today to charges of conspiring to transport and possess 116 pounds of pure heroin — worth more than $20 million on the illicit narcotics market.

The plea was entered by Mauricio Rosal, 47, former Guatemalan ambassador to Belgium and the Netherlands.

A codefendant, Nicholas Calamiris, 47, of New York, also pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge Archie O. Dawson.

Two other defendants had pleaded guilty Tuesday. They are Etienne Tarditi, 56, a French citizen with an electronics business in Paris, and Charles Bourbonnais, 30, of New York.

The four men were seized Oct. 3. Rosal's government dismissed him from the diplomatic service a day later.

They will be sentenced Jan. 11.

Daughter of Oregon Man Kidnaped

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—The 17-year-old daughter of a banker in the small town of Sultan, 30 miles east of here, was reported kidnaped today and held for $25,000 ransom.

George Oelrich, manager of the Sultan branch of the First National Bank of Everett, notified sheriff's officers he received a telephone call about 9 a.m. from an unidentified man.

Then his daughter, Hazel Irene, a Sultan High School senior, was put on the line and told him tearfully she had been kidnaped for $25,000 ransom.

The male voice interrupted to instruct Oelrich to leave $25,000 in unmarked bills in a telephone booth at a Monroe service station, 7 miles west of Sultan, if he wanted to see his daughter again. With that, the connection was broken.

Sheriff's officers headed immediately for Monroe. The FBI was called in.

Oelrich said his daughter apparently was picked up at home about 8:30 a.m. as she was preparing to leave for school. Both parents work at the bank and had left the house 20 minutes earlier.

The mother said she believed the money had been taken to the

Pork, Lamb, Chicken Are Featured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leg of lamb, pork chops and frying chickens are offered as specialties by supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this week in their final pre-Christmas sale.

Stores in the snow-engulfed East were more concerned with getting supplies to the markets in time for processing for retail sale than with what to offer housewives.

Lamb was offered as the top attraction in New England, the New York metropolitan area, the Midwest and Far West. Prices vary from place to place, but in the New York metropolitan area a leg of lamb was unchanged from a year ago at 53 to 59 cents a pound. The lower price is untrimmed and the latter the so-called "oven ready" leg.

Frying chickens are abundant and at 31 cents a pound are 8 cents under a year ago.

Turkey and ham, the big Christmas items, are held back this week, although some chains offer canned hams. A few stores also are pushing chuck roast.

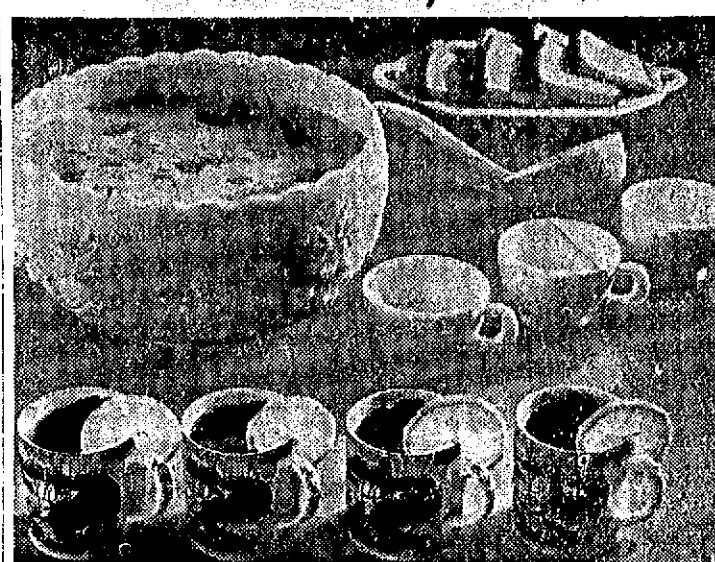

Best buys among vegetables are expected to be broccoli, cabbage, endive, escarole, medium yellow onions, Maine and Long Island potatoes, radishes, spinach, turnips, rutabagas and sweet potatoes.

Fairly expensive tags adorn

HOSPITALITY DRINKS for the Holiday Season

Into holiday drinks go more than the actual ingredients. Into them also go the brightness of the season, the high spirits and good will. For we are among friends when we drink them.

The drinks themselves are special, too. This Apple Juice Eggnog, for instance, is cool, smooth and creamy, yet offers the lively tang of apple juice. Served at family gatherings or at parties, it can be enjoyed by all ages.

Or is the day brisk and chilly? Then welcome guests with pungent Hot Aromatic Punch to make them feel cozy. Hot apple juice and hot tea are teamed in steaming deliciousness and the whole spiked with cloves and a lemon slice.

Apple Juice Nog

4 eggs, separated
4 tablespoons sugar
4 cups apple juice, chilled
Dash of nutmeg

Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually add sugar, beating constantly. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; fold into egg whites. Gradually add apple juice, mixing constantly. Serve in punch cups. Sprinkle each with nutmeg. Makes 10 servings. Double the quantities for 20 servings.

Hot Aromatic Punch

4 cups brewed tea
4 cups apple juice
2 tablespoons sugar
12 whole cloves
Lemon slices

Heat together tea, apple juice, sugar and whole cloves. Strain. Serve hot with lemon slices. Makes 8 servings. Multiply quantities by two for 16 servings, by four for 32 servings. Serve with pound cake.

Open House Party

Open house is the solution for the practical hostess planning holiday entertaining. A cheese spread served in a hollowed-out round loaf of rye bread makes an unusual bowl for a tangy, beer-seasoned cheese spread. It serves as a conversation piece as well as a tasty eating.

Cheese and beer are age-old companions and good choices for a merry holiday season. Be sure that the beer, or ale, is well chilled and served in sparkling glasses for your guests' enjoyment.

Cheese Bowl

¾ pound Cheddar cheese, grated
2 ounces Roquefort cheese, crumbled
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon grated onion
¼ cup beer or ale
1 small round loaf rye bread
Cream cheese (optional)

Place all ingredients except beer and bread in bowl. Let stand at room temperature about 30 minutes to soften cheese. Mix slowly with electric mixer or blend with wooden spoon, adding beer gradually, until spread is smooth and fluffy. Chill about 30 minutes. To make bread bowl, cut a slice from the top of loaf and hollow out the center. Transfer the chilled cheese spread to the bread bowl and shape it into a high, smooth mound. If desired, garnish top with rosettes made by forcing cream cheese through a pastry tube. Keep refrigerated until ready to serve.

Small Town 'Central' Is Fading Fast

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Staff Writer

Central is just a show of her former self.

Like the Model T Ford, the five-cent cigar and nickel beer, "central" — the small-town telephone operator — is passing rapidly into the oblivion of Americana.

Once nearly every Arkansas town had its "central." Larger towns, had several operators, but in small communities "central" was the woman who had a switchboard in her home. Everybody knew her and she knew everybody — and often nearly everything which went on in town.

Now, with the spread of dial telephone equipment, only the larger cities have operators and they work mostly on long-distance calls. Even that will go, eventually, as direct distance dialing — a system in which the customer dials his own number in distant cities — becomes more universal.

The hey-day of "central" (presumably the name comes from the operator's location in the central office of the telephone company) was in the 1920s and 1930s. From 1917 up until 1930 Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., which operates most of Arkansas' telephone exchanges, had from 90 to 100 manual switchboard exchanges.

Now Bell has only five — Wynne, Warren, Mena, Brinkley and Nashville. And Warren converts to dial Sunday. The other exchanges, too, are slated for dial conversion, probably within five years.

That's not the whole story, of course. There are some 50 other telephone companies in the state. And many of these smaller companies still have local operators (but they're usually "operator" now instead of "central").

There are, incidentally, probably about 400,000 telephones in the state. Bell has nearly 325,000 and the other companies may have up to 100,000 more.

Of course, all telephone exchanges are so inter-connected now that there's no problem of calling between companies. That was a hazard in older days, though, when two exchanges sometimes competed within the same town.

This apparently happened in Arkansas, too. A man named Edward C. Newton, then local manager for Western Union, started Little Rock's first telephone exchange in 1879. This gave way early in 1881 to Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Co., a forerunner of the present firm founded by Jasper Newton Keller with Col. Logan H. Roots. The new firm paid $3,585.13 to buy the Little Rock exchange from Western Union and also bought a Hot Springs exchange. In 1885 the Little Rock Telephone Co. was organized by W. B. Worthen and several other men, but about 1900 it was absorbed by Bell.

Arkansas' first long-distance line, built in 1880, connected Little Rock and Hot Springs. Six years later lines were also strung up, linking Fort Smith with Van Buren, Alma and other towns to Waldron. But it wasn't until 1893 that a Little Rock-Fort Smith line was completed. Between 1890 and

Minuteman Missile to Be Ready

By RALPH DIGHTON

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A long blue train may pull onto a siding in your town some night, and suddenly your neighborhood becomes a prime target area — until the train pulls out.

In the 10-car train are four or five windowless cars. Each car carries a glistening white missile ready to rocket a nuclear warhead 6,000 miles.

The missile, 58 feet long and 6 feet in diameter at its base, is the Minuteman.

Solid-fueled and storable indefinitely, it can be jostled around on the nation's railroads for months or even years — then launched on a minute's notice.

Fifty of the country's top railroad executives Tuesday got their first look at a full-scale mockup of a Minuteman train in a big hangar at the Boeing Airplane Co. plant here.

Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Research and Development Command, conceded at a news conference that spies might with great effort learn where Minuteman trains of the future were parked each night.

"But by the time they can get their information to Moscow," he said, "the trains will have gone on to other points on the nation's thousands of miles of railroads."

William Kelle, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, says Minuteman trains — expected to be rolling within 18 months — will have no effect on civilian passenger travel. They will be fitted into existing schedules and at least part of the time will be parked on sidings.

Five of the 10 cars provide living and working quarters for the missilemen, including a control section where two launch officers sit at duplicate panels. The missile cannot be launched unless both men turn their keys. Neither can be forced to act against his will — they are separated by bullet-proof glass.

Highway Worker Fatally Burned

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Diesel fuel caught fire at a highway construction site near Fayetteville late last night and a workman, Chester Webb, 43, of Black Rock, was burned fatally. Two other employees at the rock crushing plant, five miles east of Fayetteville said Webb's clothing caught fire.

1895 lines were built from Little Rock north to Russellville, Morrilton and Conway and south to Pine Bluff and Camden and southeastward to Forrest City, Marianna and Helena.

Now the wire network reaches into almost every hamlet of the state. Even some of the seemingly most remote areas can be reached via telephone.

All of which puts in a pretty good light the Little Rock newspaper editor, who, after watching the first Arkansas demonstration of Alexander Graham Bell's talking machine in 1878, wrote: "This Buren, Alma and other towns to Waldron. But it wasn't until 1893 that a Little Rock-Fort Smith line business as well as private purposes."

Pears for Future Pleasure

RIPE GOLDEN PEARS OFFER RICH DIVIDENDS for your jolly shelf now, and ready rewards for the breakfast table later on this winter. Simply follow today's easy recipe, and you will have 11 medium glasses of golden Pear Jam in less than 15 minutes after the fruit has been prepared.

PEAR JAM

Yield: about 11 medium glasses (5½ lbs. jam)
4 cups prepared fruit (about 3 lbs. ripe pears)
¾ cup lemon juice (2 lemons)
7½ cups sugar
½ bottle Certo liquid fruit pectin

First, prepare the fruit. Peel and pit about 3 pounds fully ripe pears. Grind or chop very fine. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan. Squeeze the juice from 2 medium-sized lemons. Measure ¾ cup juice into saucepan with pears.

Then make the jam. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ¼ inch hot paraffin. If jars are used, seal.

Note: This jam may set slowly—allow about 2 weeks.

TIME FOR VIOLENCE

By Noel M. Loomis

© Noel Loomis 1960. Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Bart Wagner makes a deal with Catherine Lewis, a widow who has been terrorized by outlaws. If she will treat a bullet wound in his arm, he will stay at her ranch and help her until the wound heals.

CHAPTER IV

He awoke to the smell of fresh coffee. He started up, and found himself lying on a buffalo robe, with a comfort over him. It was daylight; he got up and stretched.

Her voice came to him. "It's nearly noon," she said. "You've slept the clock around and then some."

"His arm was sore, but otherwise he felt like a spring coil. He asked, 'No trouble during the night?'"

"No trouble." For a second he thought she sounded almost regretful. "I suppose they saw you ride up, and knew you stayed."

"That won't last long," he predicted. "Meantime, we'd better go ahead with the work."

"Ben had some money in his pocket when he was killed," she looked at him steadily, sizing him up, then said, "Tomorrow you can take the wagon into Clarendon to get supplies."

He got a big drink of water from the bucket. "You will be alone again as soon as I pull out," he noted.

She looked up from the stove. "I'm not afraid to stay alone. I have the Sharps. Besides," she added softly, "there's somebody on my side now. You'll be back in three days, and they will know that, because you're taking the wagon."

He hung up the dipper. "You've been throwing that rifle around a lot in the last few hours. Ever shot a man?"

"No," she admitted, stirring something in a deep tin pan. "I thought not." He glanced at the water bucket. "First thing I better do is rustle up some water from the creek. Your barrel outside is mighty near empty."

"There's a sled out by the corral," she told him.

"Another thing," he said curiously. "I know the places here are far apart, but it seems strange there haven't been any neighbors in to see how you're getting along."

She said, with her eyes on the floor, "Ben wasn't much of a hand to encourage callers."

At supper they had pie with some kind of creamy filling. "Mighty good," he said after his second piece.

Her immediate pleasure was apparent. He guessed that among Ben Lewis's unattractive characteristics, he had not been one to waste words in idle compliments. He thought about it as he took his time over his second cup of coffee. Finally, he said, "Mrs. Lewis—"

"My name is Catherine," she said.

He nodded. "Nice name." But he wondered if Ben had ever called her by it.

He looked at her dark eyes. How could he tell her what came to his mind: that she was pretty and pleasant and eager to please—and ripe for anybody who might come along and tell her sweet things. He was sure of one thing: In spite of her competence in frontier matters, she was a child as far as men were concerned. She had the body and mind of a woman but the experience of a young girl, and apparently Ben had taken her out of circulation before she had had a chance to get acquainted with any young fellows.

People from all parts of the world visit the Arkansas Territorial Capitol Restoration in Little Rock each year.

A man always needed a woman's help to run a ranch, and sometimes he would marry any girl strong enough to carry a bucket of water. "I forgot to notice," he said, "whether there is any barbed wire around."

"There are half a dozen rolls back of the corral," she told him, watching his eyes as if she had some knowledge of his thoughts. He took his gun belt from the peg near the door and buckled it on.

She spoke from across the table. "You trust me now, don't you?"

He looked at her, half amused. "I reckon I do," he said.

"What would you do if I made a move toward the rifle?"

"That's idle speculation," he said. "You've had all kinds of opportunity but you haven't taken it. Anyway, there's no reason for you to aim the Sharps at me again. I have no wish to harm you."

"You might be one of the outlaws—maybe some other band besides Xenophon Jones."

He put on his hat, and it struck him that the civilizing influence of a woman was soon felt, for that was the first time in years that he had taken off his hat to eat. "If I were an outlaw," he said, "I would not have wasted all this time."

"I put two comforts and a blanket on the floor for you," she said, pointing, "and you can have the buffalo robe."

"Thank you, ma'am." He scooped them up in his arms and went out. "Goodnight, Catherine," he said as he stepped into the darkness.

"Goodnight," she said.

The Winter Fallout Is Good Topic

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Next to young love, which can happen in any climate, the favorite topic of poets, song-writers and other ethereal types is — you should pardon the expression — snow.

Countless thousands of verses have been penned extolling this wintry fallout as the greatest thing since manna, and I think I know the reason for this. Poetry and song writing is indoor work.

A composer can go to the window, cast his soulful eyes upon the snow-laden landscape and then spend the rest of the day by the fire, thinking up words that rhyme with "wonderland."

There are times — this being one of them — when I wish I could grab these snow hymnists by the scruffs of their necks, plunk them down in the suburbs and force them to make their way to the city.

I would like to see them spend 45 minutes putting chains on car wheels only to discover, as I did a few hours ago, that the car wouldn't start.

Neuro-Surgeon's Rates

Then, after they had paid the service station for making a house call at the same rate charged by neuro-surgeons, I would like to see them walk four blocks through a foot of snow to fetch a shovel with which to extricate the auto from a roadside drift into which it had skidded.

Then, after they had reached the highway, I would like to see them get out of the car and remove the chains in order to avoid clanking along for 10 miles on pavement that already had been cleared by the snowplow.

I also would have them forget to bring their gloves so that they would have to perform this operation stiff-fingered and would be able to gash a thumb while trying to undo the chains.

"Simple" Strap Ons

Moreover, I would make certain the chains were the "simple" strap-on variety which only require 30 minutes longer to take on and off than the regular variety and which fall off by themselves once the auto is in motion.

And, finally, I would have them spend a day in a snowbound hunk with three young sculptors, who have to make 47 trips outside to carve a snowman, who have to be swaddled and unwaddled in heavy boots, pants and jackets before and after each trip, who leave the living room carpet saturated with the residue, and run up the fuel bill by leaving the door open.

All of this, I'll warrant, would bring about a revolution in snow-fall literature and lyrics. But if personal experience didn't do the trick, I could acquaint the poets and song-writers with some impersonal statistics.

For one thing, it costs a city like Washington some $30,000 an inch in maintenance work for every inch of snow that falls. For another, shoveling 15 inches of snow from a sidewalk 50 feet long and five feet wide requires as much energy as lifting 1,950 pounds.

I'd like to see some composer try to set those lines to music:

People from all parts of the world visit the Arkansas Territorial Capitol Restoration in Little Rock each year.

A man always needed a woman's help to run a ranch, and sometimes he would marry any girl strong enough to carry a bucket of water. "I forgot to notice," he said, "whether there is any barbed wire around."

Christmas Colors Dessert

There's both artistry in food and decoration when a handsome eggnog Bavarian cream comes to the holiday table. The raised fruit design, created by the dessert mold container, is painted Christmas red and green with vegetable food coloring.

The beverage blend of milk and eggs that is commercially bottled eggnog provides the ready-made custard base for this traditional holiday dessert. Whipped cream goes in for added richness and smoothness. Then unflavored gelatin gives the dessert its design while at the same time guarding the light, velvety texture so typical of chiffon and Bavarian cream desserts.

Molded Eggnog

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
¼ quart bottled non-alcoholic eggnog

¼ teaspoon nutmeg, optional
4 teaspoons rum flavoring, optional
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine gelatin and sugar in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 cup of the cold eggnog. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining eggnog. If additional flavoring is desired, add nutmeg and flavoring. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into a 6-cup mold with fruit design; chill until firm. Use small paint brush to outline fruit design on mold. Return the gelatin dessert on its serving platter to the refrigerator and keep chilled until dessert time. Yield: 10 servings.

Pilot Film Was Only a Big Flop

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — I like to think there is a reason for showing unsuccessful pilot films on TV. I like to think the reason is that the industry wants us to remember that things can always get worse. If we think the TV series that made it are bad, just take a look at the ones that didn't sell. The reasoning might go.

Tuesday night, the NBC-TV channels undammed. "O'Connor's Ocean" billed as a mystery special — translation: A pilot film that flopped. Heaved into this foaming sea of eyewash was a large cast headed by John Payne, as a sea-going lawyer named Torin O'Connor. He's a mixture of such TV characters as Adam Troy, Grey Holden and Roy Markham, and he is at home before bars of all sorts. His assignment Tuesday night was to find out if the husband of a shattered authoress was dead or alive.

The show opened with what is intended to introduce the characters — the so-called comedy relief. We met an inebriated parrot, the sober, gold-bricking O'Connor, his impish deck hand, his excited colleagues from the law office — one of whom kept falling into the water, briefcase and all.

Pist fights, solemn, terse conversations and a couple of violent deaths were inserted into the proceedings with predictable regularity. They came up with an exotic death for the villain, though. He was hit in the back by a picador's lance, hurled at him by a retired matador. Ole!

As O'Connor, Payne was given ample opportunity to purse his lips, flex his muscles in his bare-chested scenes, throw punches and raise his eyebrows. He encountered full-lipped women and light-lipped conspirators. He picked up a blonde from Vienna in a Mexican cantina. She said, "Outsiders are always suspect. I know." He said, "You're a long way from Vienna." She said "I know." By time Payne got to her apartment to keep their date, she was dead. Murdered, you know.

Early in the show, Payne discovered a dynamite bomb aboard his yacht and flipped it overboard just seconds before it went off. I think he should have thrown himself overboard instead let the yacht and pilot film go "boom", and spared us the nonsense that followed.

Dialing and Filing: No, Charlie, you weren't seeing double Tuesday night. That was the same actress, Beverly Garland, on rival programs. Miss Garland portrayed a bloodthirsty killer on ABC-TV's "Stagecoach West" and, across the dial, on NBC-TV's "Thriller," portrayed, simultaneously, a gambling man's wife who was nearly murdered.

Marion Lorne also had a big night on T.V., although she didn't compete with herself. Miss Lorne was flapping around in the repeat showing of "Harvey" on CBS-TV and also on "The Garry Moore Show," which followed.

The Channel Swim: "The Garry Moore Show" is going on tour. The Tuesday night CBS-TV variety hour will be taped at the St. Paul, Minn., Winter Carnival for Jan. 31; from Hollywood for airing on Feb. 7 and 14, and from Winter Haven, Fla., for March 14. "I've Got A Secret," Moore's Wednesday night CBS-TV show, will originate at Winter Haven on March 15.

Jimmy Stewart will narrate "Tribute to a Patriot," the NBC-TV special that honors President Eisenhower, on Tuesday, Jan. 10. "The Will to Victory," an hour-long documentary special based on Winston Churchill's World War II memoirs, pre-empted "The Islanders" on ABC-TV for Sunday, Jan. 1.

Ron Ely has landed the leading role in CBS-TV's "Aquanuts," replacing Keith Larsen who withdrew last week. Ely will portray a skin diver named Mike Madison. Jeremy Slate continues as Larry Lehr.

Henry to Resume Ford Presidency

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. announced today that Henry Ford II, board chairman, will resume the company presidency Jan. 1.

The company said in a statement that Ford will act as both board chairman and president "for at least the next several months."

The announcement came a day after the designation of Robert S. McNamara, Ford president, as secretary of defense by President elect John F. Kennedy.

McNamara had been named president of Ford—as successor to Henry Ford II—only a few weeks ago.

Today's action came as the board of directors met following McNamara's cabinet appointment.

Christmas Cut-Ups

Scissors, a jar of rubber cement, and brightly printed gift-wraps—that's all it takes to turn the whole family into a lively bunch of Christmas cut-ups. Object? Gift wrap murals like those shown here. They're fun for youngsters and grown-ups alike, and inspiration is everywhere—in newspapers, magazines, children's story books, paintings, fabrics—even real-life scenes.

In the background is a mural by imaginative fourth grader who visualized Santa in a nautical scene. Tumbling across the stylized, blue-ocean waves goes a small boat cut from gift-wraps, and from its funnel comes a great cloud of smoke, expressed in a puff of white tissue. Crumpled papers of many colors create the motif of a three dimensional effect of a rocky shore, and at left a light-blue guide passing ships. Tissue makes clouds, too, and rubber cement holds all in place on a sturdy background of pressed wood. A each hook for hanging.

Grown-ups might try a modern abstract mural showing a sophisticated view beneath the waves. Base again is pressed wood covered this time with satin finish gold foil taped to the back. Sketch fish on tracing paper, and cut out for patterns. The secret in this instance is in intriguing shapes. Use assorted gift-wraps, and like reading between the lines, learn to look beyond the printed designs themselves to find the shapes you want. Trace and cut out.

Arrange cut-outs at random to please your eye, glue in place, and you have a uniquely different holiday decoration for your home, one so easy and inexpensive you can change it as often as you like.

Gift-wraps used here are products of Ben-Mont Papers, Incorporated, and are available at variety stores everywhere.

U.S. Spends $91 Person on Schools

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's public elementary and secondary schools will spend an estimated total of $16,476,135,000 this school year—more than $91 for every child, woman, and child in the United States.

Reporting this today, the National Education Association said it represents an increase of 1.2 billion, or eight per cent, over last year, and 153 per cent over the $6.5 billion dollars of just 10 years ago.

The total includes almost $13 billion in current expenses, slightly over 3 billion in capital outlay for new buildings, etc., and almost half a billion in interest charges.

The NEA also reported current enrollment in the public schools has reached 37,214,281, including 25,285,620 pupils in elementary school and 11,928,661 in secondary school, a one-year overall increase of 1,206,317.

Elementary school enrollment this year is 3 per cent higher than last year, and 33 per cent higher than 10 years ago. Secondary enrollment is up 4.2 per cent over last year and a whopping 76.6 per cent higher than the 1950-51 figure.

The figures were reported by the NEA's research division in a 32-page booklet, "Statistics of School Statistics, 1960-61." Other highlights from the report:

There are 1,408,002 classroom teachers; their average annual salary is $5,125 compared with $4,495 the previous year; one out of every 15 is an "emergency" teacher who lacks full credentials; and during the present school year 126,065 teachers will leave the public schools.

Total revenue receipts of the schools—excluding nearly 3 billion from the sale of bonds—will be $14,778,072,000. Of the total, $6.3 per cent will come from local sources, 40.1 per cent from state sources, and 3.6 per cent from the federal government.

The number of school districts has been cut to a modern low of 37,183, less than half the number it existed 11 years ago.

Sam M. Lambert, director of the NEA's research division, said total expenditures will increase by at least $1 billion per year during the 60s.

Lambert also said that while the average teacher's salary, based $5,000 this year for the first time, it is still far below what a professional should be paid.

Europeans May Train in the U. S.

PARIS (AP)—A plan to train European troops in the United States was being discussed today among military leaders of the Atlantic Alliance.

At the same time the United States dropped its idea that West Germany pay $600 million annually toward support of U.S. troops in Germany.

The Bonn government had turned down the proposal and today U.S. Secretary of the Treaty, Robert B. Anderson, suggested that other methods can be used to accomplish the same aim.

Anderson said the plan of sending West German soldiers to military camps in the United States to be trained by U.S. troops would give them room to conduct their own activities.

The council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meets here Friday. NATO's military committee has handed the 16-nation council the problem of finding room for training the West's armed forces.

Informants said the training area problem may be solved by sending West German and other Continental soldiers in military camps in the United States to be trained by U.S. troops.

Why a Man Gives Up $3 Million Job

DETROIT (AP)—Why would a man be willing to lose some $3 million in exchange for $25,000 a year and the title of secretary of defense?

Because, says Robert Strange McNamara, "Personal considerations must be subordinated to the responsibility to serve the president of the United States and the public on request."

McNamara announced Tuesday that he was going to leave his job as president of the Ford Motor Co.—a post he has held for slightly more than a month—to join President-elect John F. Kennedy's Cabinet as defense secretary.

McNamara, 44, said he planned to get rid of his 24,705 shares of Ford stock and the options he holds on 30,000 other shares.

"I will forego profit of about $3 million over the next three to four years," he said.

All this for $25,000 a year and the tremendous responsibilities of a job offered by a Democratic president-elect to a man who describes himself as a Republican, who votes as a political independent, and who refuses to say whether he voted for Kennedy because "my vote is my own affair."

McNamara, an Air Force veteran, appeared on the automotive scene in 1946 with the postwar reorganization of Ford. He and nine other experts who pioneered the complex job of setting up statistical controls for the Air Force took themselves to Ford as a package and asked for a chance to put their talents to work for the giant auto company.

Castro Lashes Union Leaders

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban military intelligence today released a report accusing the anti-Castro leadership of the Havana Electrical Workers Union of sabotage. This was a prelude to a union meeting tonight expected to oust them from control.

The report, published in government-controlled newspapers, said four associates of union secretary Amador Fraginals planted bombs in manholes Nov. 29 and then attempted to flee Cuba in a small boat which later was disabled.

The intelligence report charged plotters used a truck belonging to the Havana Electric Co., and posed as workmen to plant the bombs.

Philadelphians See Flashes

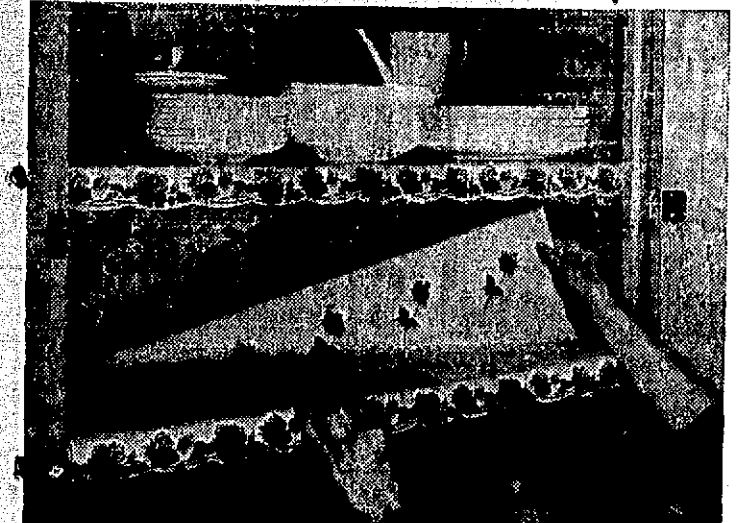

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Residents in a number of Pennsylvania cities today reported seeing blue-white flashes of light that seemed to streak across the sky from southwest to northeast.

Reports on the flashes, described "almost like flashes of lightning," came from Pottstown, Lancaster, Reading and Harrisburg in eastern Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh and Johnstown in the western sector.

A Reading source said the flashes were followed by smoke trails that "lingered for minutes." The sightings were reported about 1 a.m. and a.m.

In Pittsburgh, a spokesman for the Buhl Planetarium said that the reports he received indicated the flashes of light were "a large sized meteor, commonly called a fireball."

Get Ready For The Holidays

As the holiday season approaches, most homemakers are concerned with a pre-holiday clean-up in their homes. One of the first things they usually do is to see that party dishes are clean and ready to use. Cupboards usually need some organizing too. Here is a suggestion that many will find helpful.

This season kitchen shelves can be beautified with a new plastic shelf lining recently introduced. It's all plastic, it's waterproof and stain resistant, both important qualities where food is being handled, and it wipes clean in a twinkling with a damp cloth. In the kitchen where things are moved in and out of cupboards many times a day, durability is important, too, and with this new shelf cover there's no worry. It won't crack or tear, is practically indestructible. Installation can be done in a jiffy. It is actually shelf lining and edges all in one piece. You simply cut it to fit, fold the edges down along a pre-creased line, and apply. No tacks, tape or adhesives are needed to fasten in place.

Pick a bright color to carry out the mood of the season, or match the color scheme of your home. There are five different designs to choose from in a total of 24 colors, available at local variety stores. And remember that linen shelves, laundry areas, nursery and toy shelves, clothes closets and drawers often can use some dressing up for the holidays, too.
